

1. Brian Watt... lead vocals, guitars, bass

Brian Watt was the first person in Australia to gain a University degree for rock vocal styles. He has never let that get in the way of playing great music and over the past 10 years he has carved out a reputation as the most popular solo entertainer in the Byron Bay region on the North Coast, while simultaneously racking up over 1000 gigs in the last 10 years in partnership with Barry Ferrier in the unique "greatest hits" duo Snapshot.

Brian has an outstanding voice often compared to Bono - he effortlessly covers all the great pop vocalists with amazing flexibility, range, and an ear for catching the sound. His memory for obscure song lyrics is nothing short of prodigious - he somehow can do a pretty good rendition of literally hundreds of songs. His soaring vocals are supported by full-bodied rhythm guitar playing, one of the driving forces of the Free Rads party machine.
